

SUMMER ACTIVITIES

FOR SPEECH THERAPY

Coloring sheets

The coloring sheets can be used to follow directions (e.g. “color the top part of the green”). Add your own creations and directions, such as instructing the individuals to draw a cloud above the sandcastle. You can also have individuals color in a portion of the picture after they practice a target sound 5 or 10 times.

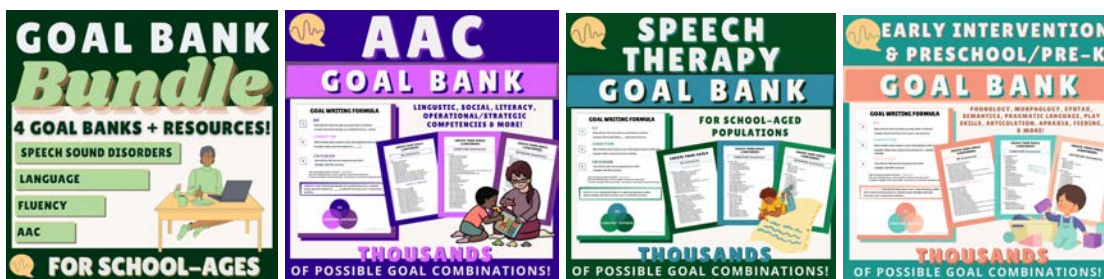

BINGO board

The BINGO board can be used to work on target sounds or answer simple (or more complex) questions. Instruct the individuals to cover a certain word or work on inferences or categories when you say cover something that you wear or cover something that is cold. There are two unique BINGO boards to add more variety if you would like!

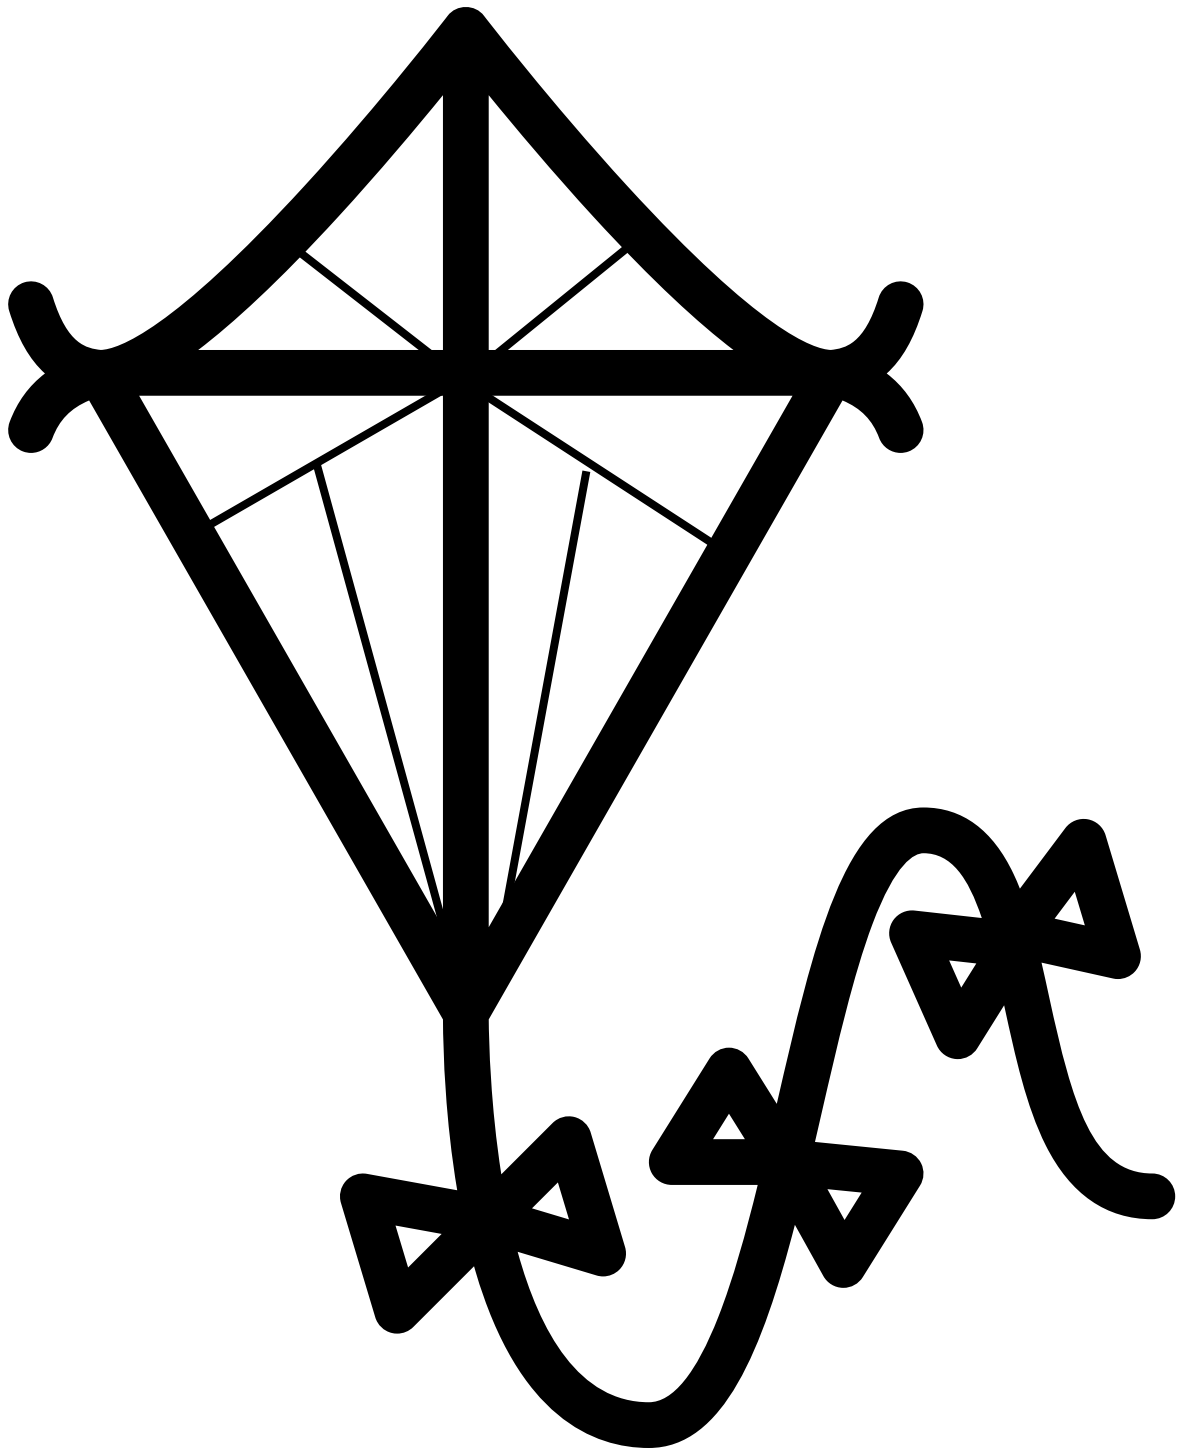

Pictures

The final pictures can be used for memory or matching. Make a copy of them and work on articulation or answering wh- questions when individuals flip over different cards. You may also target different adjectives or concepts when you discuss where you wear sunglasses or what you need in order to go swimming.
